

Jason David Selvage

June 5, 1972 - March 12, 2014

Jason David Selvage, 41, a gentle soul and beloved son has gone to sleep after a prolonged illness.

He will be deeply missed by many friends and family especially his parents, David and Judy Selvage. Jason was preceded in death by his brother Jordan in 2005.

Jason loved life and even though he didn't always talk a lot, he was a deep thinker and always had the right answer for you when you had a problem. He loved his dogs, Molly and Wren, and was a great caregiver to them.

The family would like to thank the nurses and caregivers from Toledo Hospital and Ebeid Hospice for their care and concern during his last days.

A Celebration of Jason's life will be held 1:00pm Monday at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 1722 Cherry Street (at Sherman St.) Toledo, Ohio 43608 with Andrew Hunt officiating. Do something kind for someone else in lieu of flowers. Online condolences may be left for Jason's family at www.ansberg-west.com.

Comments

“ Thinking of my mentors and adoptive family tonight. The obituary for Jason was written in precisely the spirit I would expect from the two most wonderful souls I've ever had the pleasure to know. In lieu of flowers, do something nice for somebody. It is this simple, good-natured beauty that all Selvages will leave as a legacy. I love you both. Thank you for the example you live for the rest of us, even in the moments of your deepest pain.

Brian Barnett - August 23, 2014 at 02:12 AM

“ Dave and Judy.

Sometimes words can't say what the heart really feels, but we were really saddened to hear about Jason. The last time we saw him was at Pat's memorial in Portsmouth.

As wonderful as life is...sometimes it's the "pits" when we have to see the friends endure things like this.

Jason will live a long time in the hearts and minds of those who loved him and his family. Until.....the resurrection and when we all will see him again.

Warm Christian love,
Bud & June

Bud & June Maxwell - April 16, 2014 at 02:43 PM