“ I had the pleasure of accompanying Jimbo to West Valley NY for a weekend staying with Peaches. The three of us attended a Buffalo Bills game. We had to sit separately that day. Peaches took the single seat a ways from Jim and I. So at halftime we went to check in on her. She was having a great time! So were all of the people sitting around her. They were smiling, laughing and calling Peaches by her name. I thought "Do they all know each other?" No. That wasn't it at all. In less than a half of a game. She brought a group of strangers together like they were old friends. That was the wonderful personality that Peaches had. She will be missed by many.
