“ Grandma-I can remember almost as if it were yesterday being a little girl in your basement kitchen having lunch with you. I remember being in awe of your baking skills, your knowledge of antiques, your perfectly starched lines, your gardening skills and your beautifully kept home. Martha Stewart could not hold a candle to you. I also remember your laugh and the little twinkle you would get in your eye when you would tell me stories about growing up on the farm, about some piece of china or silver you just acquired or about visits you recently had with friends and family members whom you held so dear in your heart. I loved your Molasses and Sugar cookies, your award winning German Chocolate cake and who could forget your "Heavenly Hash" at Christmas time. I loved going to church with you on Sundays. I will always cherish the memory of our trip to the antique stores in Michigan shortly after I graduated from College. I miss sitting with you in your living room going through your photo albums or listening to you tell me about your doll collection. You were one of my inspirations for choosing nursing as a career. I look forward to meeting you in Heaven someday to share these experiences again with you. I am glad you no longer have to worry about your neck pain, not being able to drive, not being able to hear or feeling lonely. Thank you for teaching me the importance of being disciplined, staying busy, working hard, honoring God, following rules, appreciating the past, and enjoying good times with family and friends. When I think of you, an old adage comes to mind, "great things come in small packages".
