“ More has to be said about such an exceptional being. She is the only person with whom I never lost touch over the last 59 years and though I have known Jack for 64, Iva was the primary. Even when I was too caught up in work to send holiday cards, there would always be the note from Iva in the straightest most legible handwriting. As Jack and Iva moved to Detroit and then to Chicago and then back to Toledo in the trajectory of Jack's career, they would always make a point of meeting me when I was in whichever city. I am grateful that I was able to see her again in July before the final onslaught of illness...so I can treasure that last happy memory. She praised how supportive Jack had been, and I left planning a future get-together to include other old friends. I am still in denial, a luxury I can have by living elsewhere, but will never forget what she meant to me. Jack, I cry for you. May the memory of the life you shared give you the strength to continue on, and thus she can continue to live in your heart..

“ An infectious smile and calming disposition is the way I remember Iva. Though many years have passed since I've last seen her, I'll never forget those evenings at the E & S where a loose confederation of UT graduates and hopefuls would congregate at the second booth over endless cups of coffee and engage in spirited conversation. It was Iva who taught me a memory device which I used over the years and passed on to students and others. Thank you, Iva.

“ Peppers "Club" (now Mortar Board) recognized the 13 outstanding young women each year at The University of Toledo. Iva was the only one in her class and one of the very few ever to have been chosen in her junior year--indicating some of the qualities that made her so special. Although she could have sponsored her own brokenhearts club of swains and suitors, they were all swept aside 59 years ago when she met Jack, a worthy helpmeet. They even shared offices together at UT when he was yearbook business manager while she was editor-in-chief. It was always "Jack and Iva"--that is how she spoke it/wrote it. It is appropriate that the accompanying photo is of Iva at 20, because she always retained that exceptional quality despite the inevitable change in physical appearance as we age. We left behind are ravaged by our loss, but grateful to have been touched by her spirit.
