“ I am sorry for your loss. I worked with Jim in the early 1970's at Great Scott in Melvindale. I remember him as a hard working kind hearted man. I lost touch with him in 1977, as I went on to a different career, but he never left my memories. We used to play a lot of cards and baseball together. He was always the organizer of these fun times. He loved doing both, even though he had a hard time running because of a bad knee at the time. Most of the guys at the store were a bit younger than Jim, so we use to lovingly call him "old man," though he was only about 30 at the time. I wish all of his family well. He was a great guy.
