“ Dear Jim, Mandy and Josh, I am so deeply sorry to hear about my friend Marsha - I know she is in a much better place laughing and smiling and petting her dog Boomer. She now can run in the waves with a huge smile on her face. All of you know that you are in my prayers to give you peace. Edna

“ Dear Jim and family, We are so sorry for your loss. Marsha was a wonderful person with her wit and sense of humor. As I was caregiver, I will never forget when she and I swam in my pool while listening to Neil Diamond and singing to his songs! You know her love for Neil Diamond! Always hold memories close and she'll never be far away.. Debbie Heer and Edna Reed

“ Please accept my sincerest condolences. Marsha's passing was mentioned in the Penn State Alumni magazine and I was stunned and feel very sorry for your loss.

I met Marsha in the Fall of 1967 as we were both freshman in East Halls and used to share a table with a fast growing group of friends at Findlay Dining Hall. Clearly, Marsha was smart and I wasn't but she had such a great love of life, her family, Buffalo, and Penn State (I think I got the order right) that somehow we got along and shared many laughs together. I don't recall anyone else's name from that dining table but I do remember Marsha's---she set the rules and the code of conduct at every meal! But,I do remember vividly that Marsha was not happy with my decision to pledge Phi Gamma Delta instead of Craig's Chi Phi. Wow, many days have passes since those decisions seemed so dramatically important.

I am sorry for you and your children and your grandchildren as they have lost a guiding smile and a warm and loving heart.

I will say a prayer for Marsha, and for her family for as the saying goes, " not for College Days alone".

With Deepest Sympathy,
Rob Speer
