

Richard A Bellman

June 28, 1945 - December 6, 2020

Richard A. Bellman passed away unexpectedly in his home on December 5th, 2020. He was a loving father, grandfather, and friend. He was a graphic designer, a science fiction movie connoisseur, a potato pancake aficionado, and a lover of harmonies that jerk at your heartstrings. He had two lifelong friends...Carl Riffle, who preceded him in death earlier in this debacle of a calendar year we are calling 2020, and Jim Boice, whom we hold in our thoughts during these somber and bizarre times. He is also survived by his wife (Linda Bellman), his brother (Carl Bellman), and his kids and grandkids in the Ginn (Kerry Bellman), Paasch (Alissa Bellman) and Pang-Bellman (Kevin) clans. Said clans are planning a summer of remembrance, reflection, and ritual as we honor our dad with road trips, belly laughter, and meditation on the complexities and frailties inherent in the human condition. He loved his family unconditionally and we loved him. We send our loving thoughts up into the universe to join him.

“ Rick was married to my cousin Linda. Although we didn't get to see him too often, I always remember his laugh and smile. He always seemed to be in a good mood. I know that it's hardest when you don't get the chance to say goodbye, however I know that he knew just how much he was loved by his entire family. Rest in peace Rick. You will be missed.

“ Mr. Rick Bellman was my Nieghbor and a true friend. We would stand at our fence line and talk for hours. About life, kids, friends, and everything in between. He was a quirky funny man that would make you full on belly life with his stories. He was always so proud of his kids and would tell me stories of them growing up. You could see the genuine pride in his voice and eyes when it came to talking about his family. I am forever grateful for being able to have the time that I spent with "Mr. Rick", and he will be sorely missed. To his family and his beautiful wife Linda Bellman you have my sincere condolences.
