“ Knowing Mr. James (I never quite felt comfortable calling him Bob) for 39 years, I grew up hanging out at his house, as did my brother, Nicky. Mr. & Mrs. James always made me feel so very much part of their family and never was there a questionable look or comment as they set another place for me for breakfast, lunch and/or dinner. I ate a lot of spaghetti and chop suey made by him and to this day I still prefer grilled cheese for breakfast. As an adult I now look back and realize that he made me feel that comfortable and special because he truly opened his home and heart to anybody who needed it. He was a good man and I will always have only the nicest memories of him.
