“ To Steve and family, I you are never prepared for the departing of a loved one. Your father is no longer suffering and he has left behind a legacy that you and the girls can all be proud of. I don't know if your father was a religious man but if he was I am sure he was welcomed at the gates of heaven and our father told him he had done a good job while on earth and said well done my faithful follower. God's speed to you and your family while you grieve you loss and begin to remember he is never gone from the heart each and every time you remember him. God Bless you and your family.
